Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly: had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from harboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. The owner is requested to come forward and prove property, pay charges and take him away, otherwise he will be disposed of as the law directs.

Wheat, Old Corn, and Maryland Tobacco,

PURCHASED BY
Oct 4 LAWRASON & FOWLE.

Mr. Editor,

KNOWING that there is a number of the most worthless of society, who make it a business to spread evil reports respecting the solvency of banks in the different parts of the United States, for the purpose of depreciating and purchasing their paper. I feel it is my duty to give a list of the Banks of the District of Columbia, that it may be made known to all persons in every part of the Union, that the said Banks do pay specie for their notes, on demand, and that they are justly entitled to the highest credit and standing, and that they are opposed to a suspension of specie payments, and will be the last in the country that will agree to such a measure. This communication is made to prevent imposition, and to inform all persons who may have the paper of these banks, in any part of the Union, that they may hold it as so much specie. Persons emigrating and travelling north, south or west, would do well by taking the notes of those banks, as they will always find them equal to specie, and often to command a premium of 5 to 10 per cent, for remittances to Baltimore, Philadelphia & New-York. To my numerous acquaintances (trading men,) and the community, I pledge myself for the foregoing.

The following are the banks of this district that pay specie for their notes on demand, viz:

The Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank of Georgetown,
Central Bank of Georgetown & Washington,
Union Bank of Georgetown,
Bank of Columbia,
Bank of the Metropolis,
Patriotic Bank of Washington,
Bank of Washington,
Bank of Alexandria,
Union Bank of Alexandria,
Farmers' Bank of Alexandria,
Bank of Potomac,
Branch Bank of the United States at Washington.

I hold myself responsible for the foregoing declaration to the public. Done at my Exchange Banking House, Bridge-street, Georgetown, this 26th day of May, 1819.

ADVICE IN COURTSHIP.

AIR—How to gain a Woman's favor.

Kitty, tender, gay, and blooming,
Lover!—wouldst thou hope to gain?
Warmly court, grow more presuming—
Maids despise the bashful swain.
When she's coldest,
Press her boldest;
Fondly seize her,
Clasp her, tease her:
Let her be thus warmly press'd,
And you'll soon, you'll soon be blest.

But if after every trial,
Every proof of tender art,
She with coldness and denial
Still proves coy, and mocks your smart;
Cease dull whining,
Moping, pining,—
Vex her, grieve her,
Slight her, leave her;
Stamp, frown, swear, and bid adieu,
Cease to court—and she'll court you.

FROM THE BLAKELY SUN.

Pennsacola, May 6, 1819.

Mr. G. F. Mott.

Dear Sir—On the evening of the 3d inst. I arrived in this town, after a very pleasant journey from Blakely by the circuitous route of the new road around the head of the Rio Perdido. The distance that way to this place I find to be about 95 miles; but when a road shall be open from Blakely to this town in the most eligible course, the distance will not exceed 55 miles.

For two days I have been constantly in motion surveying this aged city, in pursuit of such facts and information as I deem necessary, to make an estimate of its value and importance as a maratime town.

As a seaport the local situation of Pensacola may be reckoned on the scale of mediocrity. It possesses some essential advantages over many southern ports; but is, at the same time, subject to sundry inconveniences unknown in other commercial cities.

The most material disadvantage this place at present labors under, in regard to its harbor, is the very extensive shoal which stretches along the shore of the bay in front of the whole town. Although the channel leading from the sea past the Barancas into this bay, commands, as I am informed, four fathom at ordinary high water; yet a vessel drawing eight feet water, cannot approach within three hundred yards of the shore. In fact, from my own observation I find that at the distance of 100 yards in a depth only of three feet at low water, and only five at high water, the tide rising ordinarily only two feet, and but once in 24 hours. The bottom, however, being of a hard white sand, admits of a good foundation for wharves and piers, which may be made at great expense by merchants, who have capital to lay out in supplying this radical defect of nature in the celebrated harbor of Pensacola.

As the island of St. Rosa interlocks with points of the main land, and shuts out the surf and fury of the sea, the whole American navy may ride here in safety at all times, except during violent hurricanes.—This bay is six miles wide and about 30 in length, extending from the Barrancas nearly east past the town, which lies on the north side, ten miles from the gulf.

The plain on which the town is built is extensive, and about 8 feet in altitude above the surface of the sea. The soil is composed of a grey, and in some places, of a white sand, which is extremely sterile, sustaining little grass, but considerable useless shrubbery; so loose and yielding to the foot is the sand in the streets, that walking is very fatiguing and disagreeable; and the dazzling lustre of the sun's reflection therefrom very painful and dangerous to the eyes in clear weather.

The population of Pensacola at present is about fifteen hundred persons of all colors, and the number of houses do not exceed four hundred; many of which are falling to ruins—and but few fitted for convenient stores, and mercantile business.—Though no seaport town of the size of this can have less trade, or fewer charms for the sojourner, yet the price of real estate here at present, is extravagantly high.—Some house-lots even in the rear of the town, in their natural state, have been sold this spring for 3,000 dols. with only 80 feet front and 170 feet depth. Water lots of the same size with old useless buildings on them, are held at 5, 6, and 7 thousand dollars.

The purchasers have been generally from the interior of the southern and western states, and are of the speculating class of society, who appear to entertain a high opinion of the commercial advantages of this port, and anticipate a great advance on their lots at the change of government here in the fall. But whether the new proprietors will realize the objects of their fond hopes is very questionable;—at all events, it must be granted that the prosperity of this town will not be promoted by such monopoly of lots by men, who will not improve them. The engrossment of the most eligible situations for commercial establishments by people who buy merely to sell again, will, inevitably retard the growth of Pensacola, even had it an extensive back country to support its trade. But as the good lands on the small rivers emptying into this bay are very limited, and scarcely any settlements as yet made on them, the exports from this place are at present not worth notice; and cannot be much until agriculture subdues the forests of the interior. Therefore I consider the present price of lots here not warranted by any rational calculation.

However, if the main argument which the advocates of the high commercial destiny of Pensacola advance in support of their lots here, is a sound one, then the prices are reasonable enough.

The reason urged by those, who contend that this town is soon to become the principal commercial depot west of Cape Florida is predicated, not on the expectation of much support from the back country embraced by its own waters, but upon a belief that the grand rivers of Alabama and Tombigbee are, on a change of flags at this place, to betray the high trust which nature hath confided to them by deserting the spacious bay of Mobile, and pouring their treasures into the bosom of Pensacola thro' artificial channels that exist only in the fervid imaginations of those, whose interest that event might possibly promote.

Though I consider such logic entirely fallacious, and the calculation founded thereon, pregnant with disappointment, if not with the ruin of many; yet a reference in argument to the experience of all ages, and to the commercial history of all countries, appears to have no influence on the settled opinions of this class of sanguine adventurers. And some of these people are so ardent in their fond hopes and expectations of immediate wealth, that they even contend that Pensacola will ere long outstrip New-Orleans in commerce, and draw from the Mississippi the trade of that vast emporium!!

All these wonderful changes in the course of nature are to be wrought by the magic of canal and steam navigation. To be sure a canal may be open with competent capital so as to connect the bay of Mobile with that of Pensacola: but it by no means follows, even should that event ever happen, that the produce of the state of Alabama will in that case, be directed to this place for exportation.

The salubrity of the climate of Pensacola is undoubtedly well established. The dryness of the scite of the town, and the nudity and sterility of the sand hills and waste plains in its rear, together with the sea-breezes which prevail in hot weather, render the atmosphere pure and salubrious.

The portable water here is wholesome and abundant; two small brooks arising from a cold morass in the rear of the town, along the foot of the first rising ground, flow in opposite directions, (enclosing the compact part of the city) into the bay; and will always supply the place with a plenty of good water; though it does not possess that cool quality, that characterizes the best springs in the pine woods of Florida.

Yours, &c.
S. HAINES.

P. S. In a few days I shall proceed up St. Rosa Sound, and cross the bay of that name, to explore the waters of the Choctaw river—a description of which I will give you on my return to Blakeley.

S. H.

The following is an extract of a letter from Cadiz, dated March 29:

"The naval force which is to be sent to the South Seas is to be doubled, and it is therefore to consist of two line of battle ships and two frigates, which are to carry as many troops as possible, and to sail as soon as they can be got ready.—Twenty thousand men are to be embarked in the transports, as well those belonging to the Peninsula, as those already arrived or still expected from England or France. They are destined for the river Plata, to occupy Monte Viedo, and attack Buenos Ayres in conjunction with the Portuguese, if that can be brought about, and for which Olivenza and its territory, occupied in 1803, is to be restored to them. The cession of the Floridas will not bring any money into the public Treasury, because the five millions of dollars are to be paid to the creditors of Spain in the United States; the principal advantage which Spain obtains by this cession is the engagement on the part of the United States not to acknowledge or to favor the Independence of Buenos Ayres. The funds for fitting out the expedition are, in the first place, the fifteen millions of franks which France has paid to the Spanish government, for the purpose of dividing among the Spanish subjects who have claims on France, and which the king keeps under the denomination of a forced loan, recognizing the respective individuals as creditors of the state. In the second place she is expected to obtain the whole or part of the twenty millions of francs which France is to pay Spain as her share of the contribution imposed by the allied powers in the year 1815. This money is deposited; but France refuses to deliver it up until Spain shall have paid the French subjects who have suffered by seizures and confiscations of their property in Spain during the war—king Ferdinand has promised to pay, but has not done it, there being no money in the treasury. In the 3d place, we rely principally on the funds of the board of merchants, who have taken charge of the whole management of the expeditions on condition of their having the absolute control of every thing, without any interference on the part of the Ministry of War; this has been granted through necessity, and for their remuneration, 3 per cent on the whole produce of the custom house, has been assigned to them. We hope that these combined resources will furnish us with the means of despatching all the expeditons."

Tuam, (Ireland,) April 20.

A short time ago, a man who resides near Portumna, in the upper part of this county, experienced the awful visitation of providence in the following manner: It seems that a poor widow woman and himself were in partnership in the purchase of a profitable tract of land, the annual rent of which amounted to about 60 pound, of which sum each paid 30 pound. Previous to this unfortunate man's going to pay his March rent, he called on his partner to know if she was ready to accompany him, and take up their receipts according to custom. The poor woman said she was not then prepared, having only 20 pound at the time; but if he took it to the landlord, he might give her time for another week. He accordingly took the money, and went off—but judge of the astonishment of the woman, when, about twelve days after the landlord came to demand his rent. She instantly related to him the circumstance, at the conclusion of which the man was sent for. On his being questioned by the landlord on the subject, he totally denied it, and seemed to have no knowledge at all of the affair. At length the poor widow, in a seeming half distracted rage, exclaimed, in a loud voice—"My God! My God! will you allow such conduct to go unpunished; you who was our only witness? To which the hardened wretch replied; if you call your God as a witness, he must be blind at that time, for indeed there was no such thing." Scarcely had these last words escaped his lips when he fell senseless on the floor, in which dreadful situation he still continues, and with very little hopes of recovery! A short time previous to his being removed to his own house, the parish priest and a doctor arrived, but neither of them could afford him the least relief. At the request of the poor widow they examined his person, at which, to the utter horror and astonishment of all present, even his afflicted wife, who was in the house at the time when they found the money, and in the very same way as she handed it to him!

Savannah, June 5.

On Wednesday last, Morris R. Hunter was tried before the Superior Court of this county, for forgery of bank notes, and acquitted. The Judge remanded him to prison, on an affidavit having been made, that he had passed a counterfeit bill in Charleston; an express was immediately after his acquital, sent off to the governor of South Carolina, who, it is believed, has demanded him for trial in that state. Under these circumstances, Hunter was ordered to prison, and, after getting in the goal, gave the slip and made off with himself. We shall not attempt to give an opinion relative to this affair, as a committee of council has been appointed to investigate the manner of the escape of Hunter.

Since writing the above, we understand that Hunter was last night re-taken, about ten miles from town; brought back and is now safely lodged in prison, where he will remain until the governor of South Carolina is heard from.

We have seen documents that fully prove to us, that Hunter's real name is William P. Drury. (Republican.

SEA SERPENT.

This animal, the accounts of whose appearance have excited so much sport at the South, has again shown himself in our waters. He was seen on Friday and Saturday last near Cohassett Rocks, by a gentleman who heretofore has had no confidence in the existence of such a fish. He states him to be apparently from 80 to 100 feet in length, with bunches, &c. as formerly described. The following account in addition is from the Salem Register of yesterday:

SEA SERPENT AGAIN IN OUR BAY.

Capt. Wheeler, of the sloop Concord, of Fairfield, Connecticut, which arrived here from New-York on Monday evening last, informs us that on Monday morning at 5 o'clock, Race Point S. E. 15 miles, he discovered in the water, about 20 rods from his vessel, directly ahead, an extraordinary sea animal moving pretty quick through the water, with his head erected about 4 feet from the surface; the length of the creature distinctly seen above the water, was at least fifty feet; he appeared to be in joints, with a number of protuberances, and appeared somwhat similar to a string of barrels afloat. The sea was perfectly smooth, and he was so near that Capt. W. had the best opportunity of viewing him. He was visible about five minutes, when he sunk beneath the water, and disappeared for about eight or ten minutes, when he again rose on the weather quarter about the same distance as before. Capt. W. now called up several of his men to view him. In a few minutes he sunk again, and was not seen for two hours, when he again appeared on the weather bow, distance about fourteen rods, moving in the same direction with the vessel, and very slow. He continued on top of the water at this time about seven minutes, when he again sunk slowly beneath the surface, and was no more seen. Five persons on board the sloop, had a fair view of the animal, and they all agree, that he had the appearance of an enormous serpent moving with an undulatory motion through the water, with his head erected from four to seven feet, but his tail not visible. His head appeared to be about three feet in length; the eyes were discernable on his last appearance, and were as large as a horses's. In color he appeared to be perfectly black.

Capt. W. had before been an unbeliever in the existence of a Sea Serpent, but he is now perfectly convinced. He and his men are ready to attest on oath to the statement here given.

To the Editor of the Gazette.

THE Magistrates, whose names are mentioned in the following rule of the Superior court, for the county of Prince William—which rule was granted against them on the affidavit of Thomas W. Hewitt, of Alexandria—think it due to themselves to publish that rule, together with the affidavit & the opinion of the court thereupon. These documents are handed you without comment, with a request that you will give them a place in your paper.

Virginia, to wit.

At a circuit court held at Dumfries, Oct. 20th, 1818—

On the motion of the attorney for the commonwealth, and for reasons appearing to the court from the affidavit of Thomas W. Hewitt, stating that certain magistrates of the county of Prince William, to wit;—Charles Ewell, Jesse Ewell, John Linton, Thomas Chapman, and John Fox, sitting as a court on the 4th day of June term, 1818, "did corruptly command and cause their clerk to enter a verdict, as the verdict of a jury, in the cause of Cornelius Kencheloe vs Jesse Scott, not returned by the jury aforesaid, but one wholly different in words; and this they did after the jury had been discharged, and when the jury nor any one of them was in the court house, the magistrates aforesaid, sitting as aforesaid, did corruptly and oppressively refuse to enter up a judgement on the true verdict of the jury on the aforesaid case," a rule is granted him against the said magistrates, requiring them to appear here on the first day of the next term, to shew cause why an information or informations, should not be filed against them for the above cause.

The affidavit above referred to is in these words:

"Personally appeared before me one the justices of the peace for the county of Prince William, Thomas W. Hewitt and made oath, that on the fourth day of Prince Willliam county court, held for June, in the year 1818, the court being composed of the following magistrates, to wit: Chas. Ewell, Jesse Ewell, John Linton, Thomas Chapman and John Fox, they, the aforesaid magistrates sitting as a court for the administration of justice, did corruptly command and cause their clerk to enter a verdict (as a verdict of the jury in the cause of Cornelius Kencheloe vs Jesse Scott), not returned by the jury in the cause aforesaid, but one wholly different in words; and this they did after the jury had been discharged, and when the jury nor any one of them was in court. That the magistrates aforesaid, sitting as aforesaid, did corruptly and oppressively refuse to enter up judgement on the true verdict of the jury in the aforesaid case. Given under my hand the 20th day of October, 1818.

Washington I. Washington."

On a copy of the foregoing rule, the sheriff of Prince William made the following return: "Executed on the within named Charles Ewell, Jesse Ewell, John Linton, Thomas Chapman and John Fox,

J. LEACHMAN, D. S.
for GER'D ALEXANDER.
22d May 1819."

The Commonwealth,
against
Charles Ewell, Jesse Ewell, John Linton, Thomas Chapman, and John Fox, Justices of Prince William County, Defendants—

On a rule of this court entered against the defendants at the last term to shew cause, &c.

This day came as well the attorney for the commonwealth as the defendants by counsel, and the court having fully heard the evidence and arguments of counsel, and having maturely deliberated thereon; it is ordered that the rule be discharged, and on motion of the defendants, by their counsel, it is ordered, that the written opinion of the judge, delivered on the decision of this cause, this day by him anded to the clerk, be filed with the papers.

The written opinion of the judge above alluded to, and filed is in the following words—

vs.
The Justices of Prince William County.

On a motion to discharge a rule to shew cause why information should not be filed against them for corruption and oppression in office.

This is a motion, on the part of the defendants, to discharge a rule to show cause why information should not be filed against them for corruption and oppression in the exercise of their judicial functions. The subject is of great importance, and has received that full and deliberate investigation to which it was entitled from its magnitude. With all the attention which this court could bestow upon the enquiry, it has been found difficult to ascertain the real state of several of the facts. The testimony has often been confused, doubtful and contradictory: nor is it remarkable it should have been so, when it is recollected that one portion of the witnesses was under the influence of considerable excitement, whilst the others were wholly indifferent and careless of the proceeding. The following is the most accurate analysis which the court could form:—The jury in the case of the county court, from whence this controversy has originated, after their retirement, returned into the court, and offered to the court, through its proper organ, what, for distinction sake, may be called the first verdict (for the sum of $12 20). This verdict was reported to the court by the clerk, and at the moment of his closing his report, a motion was made to the court, by the defendant's counsel, for a non-suit—whilst precisely at the same time, with the consent of the jury, the plaintiff's attorney was modifying their verdict.—The first verdict having been obviously corrected by interlineation, it is not clear whether that, as corrected, or the second verdict wholly in the hand writing of the plaintiff's attorney, was read to the whole of them before their discharge; it is, however, certain, that as speedily as the correction could be made, the amended verdict was read by the counsel to the jury, and assented to by them, and that this verdict was substantially, if not in terms, the same with that written by the plaintiff's counsel. It would seem that but little time had been occupied in these proceedings at this stage of them; that the jury was discharged and dispersed

At this time it is certain that the amended verdict had never been read to the jury, nor reported to the court, by the proper organ. Discussions of an unpleasant character between the bar and the bench seem to have succeeded this stage of the transaction; and although much of the testimony exhibited to this court has turned on matters arising thereafter, there are really none of any consequence in its eyes, but the undenied facts, that the court did refuse to receive and record the amended verdict—and did order to be recorded that which had been duly reported to them; and that in this time, if not before, the first verdict as interlined and added to, was wholly obliterated by the plaintiff's counsel so as to be unintelligible. The discussions above alluded to, turned on the impropriety of the order of non-suit, and the admissibility of, and statements contained in, a bill of exceptions, prepared by the plaintiff's counsel, and the whole subject was terminated by that counsel offering to the court the second verdict and the rejection of it.

Whatever confusion may attend the details of the evidence, certain material facts are sufficiently settled, and these furnish as much light as is necessary for the decision. It is certain that the verdict for 12 dols. 20 was returned and reported to the court by its proper organ, the clerk, and that altho' this verdict was amended by the counsel with the consent of the jury, yet this was done without any application to the court—that the amended verdict was not read to the jury by the clerk, as is usual and proper in all such cases; and never was offered or reported to the court until after the jury were discharged and dispersed; and when the court was called upon to act definitively on this subject, there was nothing upon the declaration, or in the case, in the character of a verdict, but the first which had been so interlined and obliterated as to be unintelligible to the court, and the second, which was wholly written by the plaintiff's counsel, not even signed by a member of the jury, and which does not by any means clearly appear to have been written before their discharge. In this state of things a question was raised at the bar, what was the true verdict of the jury? Here it is very material to remark, that it is admitted by the principal witness for the prosecution, himself the plaintiff's counsel in the county court, and the prosecutor here, that the question of non-suit on the first verdict and the amendments made of that verdict by himself were going on at the same moment. Surely under such circumstances it is no overstrained presumption to suppose, that the communications between that gentleman and the jury, which had been conducted without any appeal to the court, were not within their observation. And if they were not so fortunate as to catch these communications, whilst they themselves were either listening to, or deciding on a motion for non-suit, there was no other time when they could have heard them from a source to which they ought to have attached authority; the discussions which immediately ensued turning on the non-suit and during these, the jury having been discharged. What then was the situation of the court when finally called on to record the verdict? It is absolutely certain they had heard but one verdict in the form and manner usual on such occasions. It is by no means certain that they had heard in any manner before the jury was discharged the amended verdict prepared and read by the plaintiff's counsel, and the presumption is that they did not. But was this a regular proceeding? Is it the practice of any well regulated court for the counsel to report the verdict to the court? Is it not known to be uniformly the practice, when any material alteration is made in a verdict, for it to be handed to the clerk and by him read anew to the jury and reported to the court? It may indeed sometimes occur that in moments of carelessness there may be exceptions to this practice, but they are only tolerated as irregularities, as a total change of the practice might be productive of the worst consequences. When then the court was called on to decide on recording the verdict, in one view of the case, and that too the most probable, they did quite right in ordering the first verdict to be recorded. It was the only one of which they had been judicially informed, and the paper itself could not furnish them any guide—not from any fault of theirs, but from the conduct of the prosecutor. But in the worst aspect of the case, they might well doubt what they should do: nor is this court by any means prepared to say, that, even if they did hear the amended verdict read by the counsel to the jury, they were bound to have regarded it, or to have been guided in their decision by what was not addressed to them, but merely overheard, pending the discussion and consideration of a point regularly made to them. It was certainly the part of the plaintiff's counsel to have met this motion for a nonsuit either on its merits, or by asking a suspension of it until, under the eye, and with the leave of the court, he could amend the verdict.—And he had no right to complain that the court whilst engaged with that, which was regularly bro't before them, and to which they were bound to listen, did not attend to that, which he was doing irregularly and out of order.—Thus it will always happen—the irregularities of the bar will recoil on itself; and in the end, they will always find, but often too late, that their own interests are entirely compatible with the order and dignity of the court.

I have thus considered the case upon the alledged error committed by the court—It is necessary in judicial proceedings to establish a wrong done, before a wrongful intention can be imputed or enquired into—the negative of either of these propositions is enough for the defendants; but there must be a concurrence of both to maintain the prosecution. The previous view taken of this subject, shewing that in one aspect of it the court did right, and in the other, it is by no means certain that they did wrong, removes all pretence of infering the existence of the weighty charge made against them, from the act itself. And in what else are we to find it? Surely not in the characters of the men, nor in their deportment on the occasion—nor in the object to be attained by their judgment. It is scarcely possible to believe that they could have conceived a different consequence, as to the motion for the nonsuit, to flow from the change in the verdict. The reason assigned by them in the bill of exceptions demonstrates that the groimd of their judgment was completely convertible to either condition of the verdict. I ask again then upon the evidence exhibited in this court, where there is even a shadow of suspicion that those gentlemen have been actuated by oppression and corruption?—As to the last of these charges, Corruption, the common understanding of mankind and the definition of the lexicographers are the same—"Wickedness: perversion of principles: loss of integrity." Without enquiring into the effect of establishing this charge, on the characters of these gentlemen as members of society, it is enough to say that the direct judicial consequences would be, to subject them to a heavy amercement and to be deprivation of their offices with ignominy and disgrace. Is there a single individual who has heard this evidence, who thinks that these consequences ought to attach to the conduct of these men? It is very true indeed that our country knows no higher object than the preserving pure and untainted the fountains of justice. It is very true indeed that oppression and corruption, in this branch of government, more than in any other, bring distress and ruin to the very fire-side of the citizen:—but it is no less true that in order to preserve justice in her purity, her ministers must be protected as well as responsible. And that while we hold them heavily accountable for their wrongs, we should zealously defend them in their rights.—Such is the wise and magnanimous principle of the common law that she will not even hold her judges responsible civilly for their errors of judgement—how would she revolt at the proposition to charge them criminally!!

In this case the parties have been fully and patiently heard upon the testimony—and the court has entered elaborately into the consideration of it—It seemed necessary to do so. The parties being as fully heard at this stage of the case as they could expect to be at any future one, the court is in possession of all the materials on which its judgment could ever operate—In this stage of the case, if it had good reason to doubt, it would refer the case to the consideration of a jury, by ordering an information to be filed. But it would not do this when the doubt was a light one, because under the circumstances, it would be countenancing a suspicion of a most injurious tendency to the defendants.

Much less would it do so when, as in this case, it has not the least doubt. There may indeed have been some excitement and ill humor on both sides on the trial in the county court; it is often hard to avoid this, however desirable. From the testimony it would seem that the greater cause was furnished by the conduct of the prosecutor—but ill humor and irritation are not corruption: this court cannot say that from the evidence it has heard, it does appear that the county court indulged even in these. But with respect to the charge set out in this rule, it has no doubt or hesitation. It is wholly unfounded and unsupported and the rule should be discharged.

I, John Lawson, clerk of the circuit court for Prince William county, do hereby certify, that the foregoing are true copies of the proceedings in said court, and of the papers filed therein, on a rule at the instance of the commonwealth against certain of the justices of said county.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, this 4th day of June, 1819.

Twenty Dollars Reward.

RAN AWAY from the subscriber on the 25th of April last, negro SAM, formerly the property of Mr. William Robinson, of Fairfax county, Virginia, of whom I purchased him about 18 months ago—He is 23 years of age, stout and well made, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches high, of a dark complexion, has an impediment in his speech when spoken to—his dress consisted of a coarse blue cloth coat and pantaloons, a great coat of shaggy cloth. He formerly worked in a brick and timber yard in Alexandria, and has some relations in Westmoreland county, and also at the Sedley Mills in Fairfax, where I purchased him. The above reward will be given to any person who will deliver him to me in Loudoun county, or secure him in any jail so that I get him again.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria —it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole: it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensels and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

September 4 GEORGE MASON.

Valuable Property for Sale.

THE subscriber is desirous of selling a handsomely situated farm, on Hunting creek, in Fairfax county Virginia, adjoining the Mount Vernon estate and the lands of general Thomson Mason, four miles from Alexandria, containing about 240 acres, 80 of which are in wood—40 to 50 in thriving meadow of clover and timothy—a part of the residue recently seeded with wheat and rye, and clover, last spring—the whole enclosed with a new post and rail fence.—The improvements are, a comfortable and convenient frame dwelling house and kitchen, smoke house, poultry house, granary and stables.—There is on this place a rich and productive garden, and a large body of marsh meadow, from which may be saved annually 100 tons of hay, nearly as nutricious as the best timothy or clover.—With the farm would be sold a number of very valuable horses, cows and sheep; waggon, carts, and a variety of farming utensils and household and kitchen furniture; corn, oats and rye, and 40 tons hay. Also, adjoining the one above described, a farm containing 160 acres, recently enclosed, on which is a brick house, which a trifling expense would render comfortable. The soil is excellent, and a considerable part might be easily converted into meadow.—it would be sold with the other or separately. Also, a number of valuable servants, male and female. To prevent unnecessary application, he would observe, that they will only be sold to persons residing in the District or its vicinity, and not to be carried from it. The subscriber will also sell the greater part of his household furniture, which is new and handsome. For terms of all or any part of the above property, apply to NOBLET HERBERT, esq. or

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be goverued by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25

IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

He is a very civil, inoffensive man, with rather a down look. There is reason to suppose that he was decoyed into a carriage, and conveyed southward.

Any information respecting him will be thankfully received. Keepers of turnpike gates, toll bridges, and taverns, are particularly requested to give such information as may be in their power.

The above reward will be cheerfully paid on conviction of the perpetrators of this flagrant outrage upon the rights of a freeborn citizen of the United States.

Georgetown, District of Columbia.

ROMULUS RIGGS,

AT his office, next door below Crawford's tavern, Bridge-st Georgetown, will exchange all kinds of Bank Notes on the most reasonable terms.—All persons who may have notes on the banks of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, would do well to call on him, as he is largely in the purchase of that kind of money, and will take it on the most reasonable terms.—Persons travelling to the Western Country may at all times get the Bank Notes of the Western Banks at a fair discount, by calling at his Office. For the information of all persons throughout the U. States, R. Riggs makes it known, that all of the Banks of the District of Columbia pay their notes on demand in specie; and it would be much to the advantage of the merchants, and trading to the South and west, to encourage the circulation of the Notes of the Banks of Georgetown, Washington and Alexandria, as it will at all times answer for remittances to the large commercial and Atlantic towns;—all persons emigrating or travelling to the westward should be very particular and take the Notes of the Banks of the District of Columbia, as they will find them the most current, there being no counterfeits on the District Banks. The Merchants' Bank of Alexandria has long since failed—all persons should be on their guard, as they will be imposed on. August 18
